TASTING NOTES

Altos de Losada La Senda del Diablo 2015 Tinto

Losada Vinos de Finca, Bierzo

More and more producers in Bierzo are paying attention to Garnacha Tintorera (Alicante Bouschet) and adding single-varietal reds to their ranges. As is the case in Pobladura, 50% of this wine was aged in amphorae and 50% in 500-litre barrels. Preserved fruit, orange zest and inky aromas are followed by a serious, full-bodied palate with some herbaceous notes. Tannins are quite obvious now but this wine is impeccably made and shows real character. Best to give it some time to settle. 16.5 points

Altos de Losada Pobladura 2015 Tinto

Losada Vinos de Finca, Bierzo

50% of the wine was aged in amphorae, 50% in 500-litre barrels. This is a fragrant, evocative red exemplifying Losada's move towards a more aerial style of Mencía. The palate is elegant and savoury, with firm tannins but expressive nonetheless. A great effort towards finesse. 17.0 points
